TWENTY-FIVE DROWNED.

An American Vessel Wrecked and Her Crew Drowned.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—An 1,800 ton bark, believed to be an American vessel, has been wrecked at the entrance to Waterford (Ireland) harbor. Her crew of twenty-five persons are all drowned.

Bogardus' Challenge.

DAYTON, O., Jan. 4.—The finish of Bogardus, in the Winston match of one hundred live birds, each, for a purse of $500 was a brilliant affair, the clear sunshiny day giving victory to Bogardus in a score af 82 to 80. Bogardus at the close of the match mounted a stump and announced his challenge to any man in America to shoot at 100 live birds, $1,000 to $5,000 a side Hurlingham rules, the match to be shot after April first.

Players Signed.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4.—President Nimick, of the Pittsburg club, yesterday signed Fred Dunlap, Mardy Henderson and Albert Maul, of the Philadelphia club, John Coleman also signed with the Pittsburg club a few days ago.

WHILE workmen were excavating the site for the new postoffice and custom house at San Antonio, Texas, the other day, they unearthed a large quantity of human bones buried in promiscuous heaps. The spot where the ghastly discovery was made was once the very heart of the historic fortifications and battle ground known to fame as "The Alamo," and is situated immediately across the street from the celebrated church containing the relics of those primitive days. The remains are undoubtedly those of the thousand or more Mexicans belonging to Santa Anna's army who fell while storming the refuge of the pioneers. The bones have been gathered up by the city and decently interred. Coincident with the discovery comes the announcement that Mme. Candelaria, the Mexican lady who proved a warm friend to the early Americans during their struggle for liberty, has been found in San Antonio living in poverty. She is 100 years old, and steps are on foot looking to a public subscription in her behalf. Mme. Candelaria was in "The Alamo" with Crocket and Col. Travis when the massacre occurred. She was actually holding the fearless Col. Bowie up in his bed when the Mexicans entered and butchered him. She was nursing Bowie, who had typhoid fever.

OPEN to question—The mouth of an inquisitive person.

Gold Found in Coffee.

E. W. Dennis, of the Pennsylvania car shops, invested $3.00 in coffee of the Globe Coffee and Tea company, 87 Calhoun street, and found in one can $30 in gold, and in another a genuine three stone diamond lace pin; also Mrs. M. Jones, 146 Wallace street, and A. Clark, railroad brakeman, each found genuine diamond rings set in solid gold; also, Miss C. Homes, Huntington, Ind., and C. Barnes, bricklayer, each found solid gold hunting case full jeweled Elgin watches in their cans of tea and coffee. Orders by mail promptly filled. The coffee has arrived containing prizes the same as the tea. Price $1 per can, six for $5. Open from 8 a. m. until 9 p. m. Globe Tea and Coffee Co., 87 Calhoun street, Fort Wayne.

BLOODY FIGHT!

Takes Place Between the White and Colored Troops of Jefferson Barracks, at St. Louis, Mo.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 4.—A revolt occurred at Jefferson barracks yesterday evening between the white and colored United States soldiers, which resulted in injuring many men, and probably will cost three men their lives. At this time there are many recruits at this station, and yesterday they drew their first pay and made an onslaught on the sutler. Numerous brawls resulted and a crowd from New York resented the familiarity of the colored troops, and fight followed fight.

The guard house was filled with disorderly persons and still the rows kept up. Late in the afternoon a drunken colored trooper was seen pursuing a fourteen-year-old white girl and a party of white troopers were soon after him and in due time handed him over to the officer of the day. This seemed to enrage a number of his comrades and they forthwith left the barracks and started for the Carondelet. On their way they fell in with a squad of white troopers and proceeded to take vengence.

The white soldiers made their escape with a few bruises and made their way to the barracks, where they soon made up a party to handle the revolters. Armed with revolvers and carbines, they started in good order from the Carondolet, but before they had gone far they were ordered to return and disarm by the officer of the day. They refused to return to their quarters, but laid down their arms at once and then proceeded after the enemy.

At the river bridge they met the colored troopers returning. An encounter immediately followed and knives, clubs and rocks were used against each other. For half an hour the battle waged without any advantage on either side, and on the bridge road and river bed men lay exhausted and beaten. Finally the belligerents, blinded and played out, withdrew. The mutineers dispersed and they were arrested in detachments on a general order to arrest all troopers. In the hospital at the point of death lie Troopers Livingston, Peterson and Krummenknocker, all white. At one time in the afternoon over 300 men were looking for a row.

PIG IRON.

The Past Year a Remarkable One in Its Production.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4.—General Manager James M. Swank, of the American Iron and Steel association, says: The year which has just closed was one of great activity and fair prosperity for the iron trade of this country. The production in all the leading branches of the manufacture of iron and steel was the largest in our history—larger than in the remarkable year 1886, when all previous achievements were left far behind.

We estimate our production of pig iron in 1887 at 6,250,000 gross tons, or 600,000 tons more than in 1886. Our production of Bessemer steel rails in 1887 was about 195,000 gross tons, or about 375,000 tons more than in 1886. In addition to our large production of pig iron in 1887, we also consumed about 300,000 tons of imported pig iron and about 160,000 tons of imported steel rails.

A RAILROAD COLLISION

On the Missouri Pacific Wrecks the Engines and Injures Two Employes.

GALVESTON, Texas, Jan. 4—The n th bound passenger train on the Missouri Pacific road, which left Galveston at 6:30 this morning, collided at 9 o'clock, near Houston, with a section of the St. Louis south-bound express. Both locomotives were badly wrecked, but no passengers were injured.

Engineer Ward, of the north-bound train, and a mail agent, name unknown, are the only ones reported injured. Neither was seriously hurt.

Editor Cowles' Health.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 4.—Recent letters received from Edwin Cowles, editor of the Leader, states that owing to ill health he will probably be compelled to spend the entire winter in Europe. He is located at Bournamot, an English watering place, where he will probably spend the winter.

Cincinnati Base Ball Club.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 4.—The manager of the Cincinnati base ball club yesterday decided to have the club spend the winter practicing and giving exhibition games south. Manager Schmelz left to-day for the south to make the necessary arrangements.

General Bragg.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 4.—General Bragg quietly left home on receipt of a telegram from President Cleveland, and is probably in Washington by this time. It is supposed he is to be minister to Mexico.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, January 4.—Indiana, colder, fair weather

CONGRESS!

Convenes and Senator Sherman Addresses the Senate on the President's Message.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Senator Cullom presented several petitions of Illinois state grange, endorsing the interstate law, favoring government ownership of telegraph lines, denouncing gambling in "futures," favoring the restriction of immigration as proposed in the Regan bill, opposing abolition of the whisky and tobacco tax and favoring the placing of salt, lumber, sugar, etc., on the free list.

Among the bills introduced and referred were the following: By Cullom, an amendment to his postal telegraph bill; by Blair, to encourage the holding of the national industrial exposition of arts, mechanics and products of the colored race throughout the United States in Atlanta, Ga., in 1888 and 1889. The senate then took up the resolution for the distribution of the president's annual message and was addressed by Senator Sherman.

At 12:45 p. m. Senator Sherman took the floor and began his speech on the president's message.

Senator Sherman concluded his remarks at 2 o'clock, and Senator Voorhees took the floor and began a speech on the same subject.

Senator Sherman's speech was listened to with close attention and when he had concluded he was congratulated by his republican associates. Mr. Blair requested that the educational bill be laid aside until Voorhees had replied to Sherman. Mr. Voorhees then began his speech in defense of the president's message.

HOUSE.

Speaker Carlisle expected to be able to announce the house committees to-day, but owing to the necessity of seeing certain members who he proposed to reassign to other committees, he was compelled to abandon his intention. It is thought the last will be finished to-night and announced to the house to-morrow.

Mr. Springer, of Illinois introduced a bill for the organization of Oklahoma into a territory.

WHO FORGED THESE BONDS?

Startling Revelations Brought Out in the D., Ft. W. & C. Receivership Suit.

DAYTON, O., Jan. 4.—In the case of Charles Heinsheimer, asking for a receiver for the Dayton, Fort Wryne and Chicago road, a sensation was created yesterday, when Judge Harmor read the answer of the road denying that the road issued the bonds in question, and saying that if such a series is outstanding they were fraudulently and unlawfully obtained from the trustees by Henry S. Ives, and by him disposed of on his own or his firm's private account. Another surprise to large holders of the stock was a revelation made by Auditor Ramsey, when he stated that among the liabilities of the road are notes issued in New York to the amount of $198,000. These statements came to Ramsey through the firm of Henry S. Ives & Co.

A LUCKY ACCIDENT

Opens the River for Coal Traffic and 8,000,000 Bushels Are Moving.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 4.—This morning the tow boat, Little Bill, in attempting to pass through a narrow passage made by the lowering of some wickets at Davis Island dam, struck one of the broken wickets, knocked it down, cleaning the channel for a space of 200 feet. The boats are now passing through the opening made by the accident and about 3,000,000 bushels of coal will get out for shipment to Cincinnati and Louisville, instead of one million bushels as was expected. No damage was done to the Little Bill by the lucky collision. The river is rceding slowly with seven feet and one inch in the channel.

The Big Reading Strike.

READING, Pa., Jan. 4.—The fact that there is a coal miners strike in the Schulkill regions is already perceptible all along the main line and branches of the Reading railroad. It was fearful that there would be a stagnation in the coal traffic during the twenty-four hours ending with noon to-day, but 1,000 cars of coal sent through the city in place of the accustomed 5,000 and 6,000 cars in that time, the superintendent of the Pennsylvania road says that the company is now hauling 1,600 tons of coal a day and that this capicity could be increased to 7,000 tons. The general impression here is that the miners employed in the individual collieries will also strike when they find that it is being handled by non-union train men.

The Reading railroad company's forty-five mines are stopped and 20,000 miners, at least, are idle. Some place the number of idle men as high as 50,000 in the Scuylkill basin alone, which with 20,000 in the Lehigh, make the number quite formidable.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4.—The price of coal has gone up 50 and 75 cents a ton and a coal famine is imminent.

Danish Minister.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 4.—Count De Sponneck, secretary of the Danish legation at St. Petersburg, has been appointed Danish minister to the United States. He will enter upon the duty of his post in February.

THE KOUTZ WRECK.

The Indictment Against Passenger Conductor Park is Quashed by the Court.

VALPARAISO, Ind., Jan. 4.—In the case of John B. Park, a passenger conductor, for involuntary manslaughter in the Koutz wreck on the Chicago and Atlantic road, Judge Field to-day sustained the defendant's motion to squash the indictment. The state appealed to the supreme court. The judge decided that the present Indiana statute for criminal carelessness is deficient and that indictment could not stand because it did not allege Park guilty of evil intent and he could not be punished for the mere omission of duty.

THE OIL PANIC

Still Continues to Excite the Brokers and Prices Rise.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 4.—There was another exciting time at the oil exchange to-day, shortly after the opening. Prices declined 6 cents. The sudden break caused a panic among the holders of long oil and for a time there was intense excitement. One man in the lobby, who was said to be a heavy holder of long oil, fainted. The trading was the heaviest for many months and prices reached the highest point since 1885. The range of values were, at the opening, 96½; highest, 97½; lowest, 91½; 1 o'clock, 94½.

Don't Want German Taught.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 4.—At a joint meeting of the course of study and ways and means committees of the public school board last night, it was decided that the German language shall not be taught in the public schools of this city after this month. There is no doubt but that the full board will acquiesce in this action, and that an order will be issued to the above effect.

THE K. OF L. CONVENTION.

Proceedings of the State Organization To-Day---The Session to Continue.

The state assembly, K. of L., met promptly at 9 o'clock this morning, with R. F. Jacks, of Lebanon, in the chair. State Master Workman Taylor arrived this forenoon, but did not participate in the convention until after dinner. The convention began work by receiving reports of committees. Nearly all the day the report of the committee on constitution and by-laws has been under consideration, and will perhaps consume the remainder of the day. A number of new delegates arrived and were admitted to-day. There is much work still to be done by the convention, including the election of officers, and it is probable that all day to-morrow will be necessary to complete the work. The convention has been marked by good feeling throughout, and everything calculated to create dissension has been promptly squelched.

At the Princess rink to-night the visitors will be tendered a grand reception.

CONDUCTOR LEACH.

Nothing Can be Recovered for His Death.

Conductor Leach, of the Wabash railroad, was killed near Fort Wayne, in November, 1886. The administrator of his estate, Ossian N. Leach, soon afterward instituted suit in the United States district court against the railroad company for $10,000 damages. Master in Chancery Fishback, to whom the case was referred, yesterday made a report to the court, at Indianapolis, that the company was not liable, and recommended that the claim be disallowed.

LOCAL NEWS.

Deputy Sheriff Wilkinson will take Mrs. Gilchrist to the state insane asylum to-morrow.

Mr. Sam Miller continues very low. He is unconscious most of the time, and powerful opiates are administered to him.

Mayor Muhler paid into the county treasury to-day $622, the amount of fines collected by him in the last six months.

Julian Kaough, brother of Postmaster Wm. Kaough was very bad this afternoon and his death was momentarily expected.

A young man named Baird, who hails from Swann, Ind., was picked up on the streets last night a raving maniac. He has been at work here in an ax handle factory.

Mary Bright, an inmate of the St. Joe hospital, was adjudged insane today. She imagines she sees angels and visions of the devil. These dethroned her reason.

Miss Amelia Ortleib, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ortleib, during the holidays, returned to her studies at the Sacred Heart convent yesterday.

Rev. Father Walsh, the distinguished president of Notre Dame university, will lecture at Library hall to-night, on "Voltaire." THE SENTINEL can commend this as a great literary treat.

AN EXPLOSION

Of a Large Amount of Saltpetre at a Fire Injures Several Persons—Fires Elsewhere.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—At 6 o'clock this morning a fire engine was called to the corner of Canal Port avenue and Halstead street to extinguish a blaze in a general provision store. Across the way was a meat shop, containing a large supply of saltpetre. As the firemen were getting the fire under control the saltpetre exploded, destroying the shop and severely injuring several persons, among whom were Lieutenant Foley and a druggist named Franklin. The loss by fire was $1,000.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 4.—The new Turner hall, on Canal street, in Allegheny City, a large three-story frame structure, was burned this morning. Loss, $18,000; partly insured.

A NIGHT OF FIRES.

The Mansion Home of Hon. F. P. Randall the Scene of a Disastrous Blaze--Other Fires.

Just after 9 o'clock last night a fire was discovered in Phillip Nestle's building at the corner of Lafayette and Lewis street. The boot and shoe and leather store conducted in the block was damaged to the extent of possibly $100, while the tailor shop adjoining was also burned out. The building was not damaged and everything is insured.

At 4 o'clock this morning an alarm called the department to the wine rooms of Boltz & Mannix, on Calhoun street, where a fire was raging in the cellar. The firemen promptly flooded the place and subdued the blaze. The damage is less than $200, with plenty of insurance to cover the loss.

The next call, at 6:30 this morning, summoned the fireman to the mansion home of Hon. F. P. Randall, on East Berry street. A fire was making headway in the northeast portion of the house, directly under the Mansard slate roof. The firemen went to work, but the task was more than they could master. The flames crept along the woodwork, serpent like, until they fastened their fiery fangs on the upper or attic portion of the handsome residence. The firemen cut the roof away in portions and crept into the blazing windows, but in spite of their heroic efforts the fire completely encircled the upper floor, burning the roof timbers, the partitions to the house maid apartments and the woodwork that lined the brick walls.

This is the extent of the damage up there, but all this time a flood of water ran down the stairways and dripped through the floors to the rooms below.

The furniture, tapestries and furnishings of the lower rooms were hastily removed, but many of the carpets, tables, bureaus and dressing cases had to remain and bear the elements.

The ceiling decorations and the walls and spacious hall ways are entirely soiled, so thoroughly did the water permeate every part, and no wonder, when two streams were poured steadily into the house from 6:30 until 10 o'clock in the morning.

The home that has been the scene of so many notable social gatherings for almost half a century is now desolate and tenantless, for the family must seek shelter elsewhere until their house is repaired.

Mr. Randall and his folks were asleep when the fire broke out. The fright of so sudden and fearful a waking tells on them severely.

Mr. Randall's valuable floral conservatory, east of the residence, is slightly damaged, but the magnificent tropical plants can be saved.

"The house is insured for $5,000 in the Hartford company, of Hartford, Conn," said Mr. Randall this morning, "but I feel that $2,500 will cover our loss."

COLUMBIA CITY.

Municipal Officers Chosen there Last Monday.

Some time ago the people of Columbia City voted to incorporate that town and last Monday the first officers of that municipality were elected as follows:

Mayor—J. W. Adair.
Clerk—Arthur Hoover.
Treasurer—Walter J. Tyree.
Marshal—Frank Supple.
Assessor—John Weinderlich.
Councilmen—First ward, James Washburn and A. P. Mitten; Second ward, C. S. Edwards and C. J. Eyanson; Third ward, James Hoorth and John B. Tauer.

The democratic ticket was elected by majorities as high as 150 save in the contest for marshal, when Frank Supple, republican, defeated C. B. Tully, by 56 votes, almost reversing the order of things.

KEPT HIS EYES OPEN

He Had to on a Dull Day Like This or He Wouldn't Have Got Any News at All.

The car wheel department of the Bass works is now running at full blast.

Henry Eider, a moulder in the Bass works, is taking a few days vacation.

The clerks of the manufacturing establishments are now through with their annual inventories.

Fred Feiler, formerly of the Bass works, but now employed at Chicago, is visiting friends in this city.

John Coppernoll, of the Wabash freight office, has returned from a visit among relatives in Michigan.

The Edison incandescent lights were introduced into the Pittsburg shops last night and worked like a charm.

This is a dull month for the railroads in the way of passenger traffic and the passenger agents can take life easy.

George Trenam has resigned his position at the Masonic Temple to take a position in the Pittsburg freight office.

F. W. Dunham, of the Olds works, has purchased a beautiful new cutter and now flies around the streets behind his high-stepping Texas.

Robert Harrison, the foreman in the Pittsburg car shops, was taken sick yesterday morning and has been confined to his home to-day also.

Capt. F. F. Boltz, the secretary of the Olds wheel works, drives a "high stepper" that allows no other horse to pass him when on the road.

E. B. White, a machinist in the Pittsburg shops, left for his home at Elkhart yesterday to spend a few days in nursing a carbuncle on his left arm.

William Swartz, one of the popular engineers on the Wabash, is being congratulated over the arrival of a bright-eyed little girl baby at his house.

Superintendent Stevens and Trainmaster Boughton went east this morning on the Wabash in their special car attached to passenger train No. 42.

The snow that accumulates on the platform at the Wabash depot is a great inconvenience to passengers. It should be removed before it gets packed down.

H. O. Crosby, of the Wabash freight office, says that they are twins and both boys, too. He has been setting up cigars ever since Monday, when the little fellows arrived.

R. F. Douglas, the assistant ticket agent of the Wabash, will return from the east to-morrow. We do not believe the reports that have been circulated about Robert's marriage.

One of the employes in the Bass blacksmith shops has the nickname of "Texas," and the boys were trying to make our reporter believe, this morning, that he was a brother of "Texas Jack."

E. G. Anderson and Martin Gross, two popular employes of the Pennsylvania company, have received deserved promotions at the hands of R. B. Rossingion, the freight agent of the company.

Allen Throckmorton, an employe in the Pittsburg blacksmith shops, while returning to work yesterday noon, slipped on the sidewalk and received such severe injuries that he will be unable to resume his position for a few days.

December was a fatal month to men in the freght serviice. On Indianapolis roads six were killed, or so injured that they died from the injuries when coupling cars, and three were killed by falling from moving cars.

Frank Scheid, a machinist in the Pittsburg shops, met with a severe and painful accident yesterday, while at work running his slotter, which resulted in the loss of his thumb nail and splitting his thumb open to the bone. He had the injured member dressed and showed his nerve by resuming work at once.

William Stuerman, an employe in the boiler department of the Bass works, slipped on the ice in the yards of the works yesterday afternoon and, it is thought, broke one of his ribs. He at least received severe injuries and will be kept from work for some time. He is a married man and lives on the Maumee road.

The machinists in the Pittsburg shops held a shooting match in White's addition, on Monday afternoon, and out of a possible thirty the following is the score: William Brown, 13; F. Fitzpatrick, 28; George Schmoll, 26; F. Mennewisch, 12, and James Brown 30. James Brown carried off the laurels, but "Hank" says he will "get there next time, Eli."

John B. Gough, the far-famed lecturer, excused himself to an audience because of a bad cold, then started for Egypt in the hope of getting rid of it. Egypt contains no remedy more certain in its result than Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Mr. Julius Remus is one of the authorized agents for the Fort Wayne Broadway nursery. Orders left with him for any article will be filled to the best of satisfaction with a guarantee that all fruit trees are grafted or budded and true to name. D. NESTLE, Pro.

E. A. K. HACKETT, Editor and Proprietor.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 4, 1888.

THE civilized world bowed its acknowledgments to the pope.

GOVERNOR FORAKER, of Ohio, is bidding for the republican presidential nomination. He attempts to criticise President Cleveland's demand for a reduction of taxation.

HON. C. L. MURRAY states that the Phalanx, the state prohibition organ at Indianapolis, has sunk $1,500 per year for the stockholders and dwindled the prohibition vote in the great city of Indianapolis down to ninety.

EDITOR SCOTT RAY announces that he is in receipt of a letter from Governor Hill, stating that it would be impossible for him to attend the democratic meeting at Indianapolis, January 11. The legislature of New York is in session and the governor could not possibly absent himself from Albany on that account.

MAYOR HEWITT, the great democratic politician of New York, has sounded the key-note of that party in that state for 1888. He declares open and undying opposition to organized labor as a more important issue than even the other great hobby of the democratic party, free trade.—Huntington Herald.

Mayor Hewitt declared nothing of the sort and as his position has been misrepresented he replied to the inquiries of a friend as follows: "I have not seen the reports of the speech to which you refer and, as a rule, pay very little attention to them. What you desire to know, however, is doubtless the view which I really hold in regard to the matter which was under consideration, namely, the right of secret trade organizations to interfere with the duties of common carriers. It is a well-settled principle of the law that common carriers cannot set up a defense against the performance of their duty to the public that there is a refusal of their employes to work. It is the duty of the common carrier to secure the necessary labor for the work of transportation. If, then, the duty of a common carrier is so imperative, any interference with this duty, except through the agencies of the law, is a direct attack upon public property. My criticism was directed to this phase of the question only. I do not object to trade organizations, but when they undertake to interfere with public rights, they become criminal and should be punished. In fact, the courts have never failed in any case when the question has been presented to hold the offending party responsible. Public men, however, claiming to be statesmen, have, by their failure to take the right ground on this question, given encouragement to secret organizations to attack the public interest. Against such a failure of this kind I have urged the democratic party to take decided ground. This I did a year ago in a well-known letter to the Brooklyn democratic club, and have since repeated this view whenever I have had occasion to refer to the subject."

BEGINNING his 83d year, M. Ferdinand de Lesseps can look around, says the London News, and see but very few men of anything like equal eminence who are as old as he. The German Emperor is 90, Dr. Dollinger is 88, Moltke and Bancroft the historian are each 87, Kossuth is 85 and Prof. Owen is 83; but it is not easy to extend the list. Yet it is not astonishing to note the large number of living great men who have passed the ordinary limit of human life. Of sovereigns the Pope is 77, and King William of the Netherlands is well on in his 71st year. Of statesmen Mr. Gladstone will be 79 next month, Mr. Bright is 76, Prince Bismarck is 72, M. Jules Grevy is 74, M. Leon Say and M. Leroyer are each 71, Lord Selborne is 75, Sir Rutherford Alcock is 78, Lord Sherbrooke is 76, and Lord Granville is 72. Of Generals MacMahon is 79, Leboeuf is 78, and Bazaine and Cialdini are each 76. Of poets, Lord Tennyson is 78, Mr. Browning is 75, and Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes is 78. Of musicians, M. Verdi is 73. Of engineers, Lord Armstrong is 77, and Sir John Hawkshaw is 76. Of painters, Meissonier is 72; and finally of showmen, Barnum is 77. Perhaps, however, M. Chevreul, who is fairly started upon his 102 year, ought not to be omitted.

THE chateau of Chantilly, generously presented by the Duc d' Aumale to the French nation, is to be finally completed according to the old original design at the Duke's expense. The large stables will be raised in height and decorated, while the ornamental sculptures left unfinished at the end of the last century are now to be added. The Duke is also arranging the galleries to contain the library and art collections, so that when the institute takes possession the old palace will be ready for opening to the public.

WM. KAOUGH, Postmaster.

MR. EDWARD WESTON, the electrician, says: "It is well known that the nitrate of amyl possesses the power of causing insensibility very quickly in a human being breathing its fumes, The effect is equivalent temporarily to a paralytic stroke. Now, nitrate of amyl is very cheap and very plentiful. I propose to fire shells filled with this chemical instead of gunpowder. It will not be necessary to penetrate a ship. A few gallons of this nitrate dashed on the deck of a war ship would soon render her crew helpless. The most powerful ironclads would be even more vulnerable than the light cruisers, for they would be sucking down great draughts of air through their artificial ventilators, and the odor would thus rapidly permeate the whole ship. The whole crew being rendered helpless for an hour or two, the ship could, of course, be towed into a safe spot, while the captors ventilated her and removed the insensible men."

No home should be without it to arrest disorders promptly, which, if not taken in season often develop into serious diseases. Rev. James M. Rollins, pastor M. E. church, S., Fairfield, Va., writes: "I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only family medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness."

I give honor to whom it is due. Dr. David Kennedy's favorite remedy cured me of Bright's disease and Gravel. Four of the best physicians had failed to relieve me. I have recommended it to scores of people with like success, and know it will cure all who try it.—Mrs. E. P. Mizner, Burg Hill, O. Send 2c. stamp to Dr. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for book how to cure Kidney, Liver and Blood Disorders. Mention this paper.

We have sold Ely's Cream Balm about three years, and have recommended its use in more than a hundred special cases of catarrh. The unanimous answer to our inquiries is, "It's the best remedy that I have ever used." Our experience is, that where parties continued its use, it never failed to cure.—J. H. Montgomery & Co., Druggists, Decorah, Iowa.

I have used Ely'y Cream Balm for dry catarrh (to which eastern persons are subject who come to live here). It has proved a cure.—B. F. M. Weeks, Denver, Col.

Syrup of Figs.

Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Co., San Francisco, Cal., is Nature's own true laxative. This pleasant California liquid fruit remedy may be had of Theime and Gross, druggists, large bottles at fifty cents or one dollar. It is the most pleasant, prompt, and effective remedy known to cleanse the system; to act on the Liver, Kidneys, and bowels gently yet thoroughly; to dispel Headaches, Colds and Fevers; to cure Constipation, Indigestion, and kindred ills.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Jan. 19-eodawlv.

Special Notice.

After January 1st, 1888, (D. V.) I will devote my attention exclusively to diseases of women and diseases of the kidneys. All who are indebted to me will please call and settle.

RETRIBUTION.

When through our sinctum sanctum passed
A youth hail clad in snow and ice,
Who scorned the placard's bold device:

Our chief the elevator-shaft
Himself had opened to the draft,

Lifeless, but beautiful he lay;
While far above the legend shone,
Close by the sanctum telephone:

GREEN AND DRY LUMBER.

A discussion is going the rounds of the press as to the relative strength of wet and dry timber. We do not believe there is much to be made out of the discussion. Some kinds of timber are stronger when dry, while other kinds are stronger when wet or green. It is safe to say that all woods are harder and less liable to bend when dry than when wet or green. But most hard woods when wet will possess more tensile strength than when dry.

Timber thoroughly seasoned is more brittle than when green, and with the necessary force will break square off, while the same timber green would stand about the same pressure by bending without breaking. Take a hickory sapling that it is almost impossible to break, in its green state, although it may bend double, and thoroughly dry it, and you may easily break it almost "square off," as the boys say. So with almost any kind of timber. Drying makes it stiffer, more unyielding, but in few instances stronger.—American Cultivator.

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS.

A Scaly, Itching Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the Cuticura Remedies twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $200.00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless, and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring worm, psoriasis, etc., I took . . . and . . . Sarsaparillas over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the Cuticura Remedies too much. They have made by skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of Cuticura, and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent and two cakes of Cuticura Soap. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200.00 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and one Improved Inhaler, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00.

That's So

Relief is certain for the despondent feelings of the dyspeptic, the constipated habit of the sedentary, the headaches of the nervous and bilious, by the simple use of Simmons Liver Regulator,—easy to take, not nauseating or disgusting, not more bitter than a glass of beer and far more grateful. It is no intoxicating beverage, but it tones up the system, settles the stomach, assists digestion, regulates the bowels, and stimulates the Liver. Take it once and and you will discard all other medicines.

"I have used many remedies for Dyspepsia, Liver Affection and Debility, but never have found anything to benefit me to the extent that Simmons Liver Regulator has. I would advise all who are similarly affected to give it a trial as it seems the only thing that never fails to relieve."—P. M. JANNEY, Minneapolis, Minn.

The certainty with which this remedy acts has astonished the Medical Profession and secured for itself unbounded praise. Its virtues consist in being so gentle a cathartic, tonic and alterative, that in its operation it does not interrupt the usual duties of life, but acts so naturally that the system is not upset or afterwards constipated. It attacks all bilious disorders and sluggishness of the Liver; is harmless, and can be taken at any time without fear of injury.

"I have been a user of Simmons Liver Regulator for years, having made it my only family medicine. It is a sure, good and reliable medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it."—Rev. JAS. M. ROLLINS, Pastor M. E. Church, Fairfield, Va.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. ALWAYS ASK FOR DR. PIERCE'S PELLETS, OR LITTLE SUGAR-COATED PILLS.

Being entirely vegetable, they operate without disturbance to the system, diet, or occupation. Put up in glass vials, hermetically sealed. Always fresh and reliable. As a laxative, alterative, or purgative, these little Pellets give the most perfect satisfaction.

SICK HEADACHE,

Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the stomach and bowels, are promptly relieved and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may truthfully be said that their action upon the system is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative influence. Sold by druggists, 25 cents a vial. Manufactured at the Chemical Laboratory of WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

$500 REWARD

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache. Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 2902 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Runyan P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

A WAYSIDE PROPHET.

While riding in a buggy through the country in Northern Ohio, we noticed that fences and bridges were adorned with various mottoes, painted in large letters, and calculated to arrest the eye of the spiritually indifferent. On the fence at a certain cross-road was printed "Prepare to meet thy God," and "Eternal life is free." On a stone abutment of a bridge appeared the startling injunction, "Repent or go to hell." Other mottoes at different places were, "Repent, you wicked sinner," "Watch and pray," and "Let your light shine." On inquiry we learned that this is the work of a zealous old gentleman, who drives about in a canvas-covered wagon, spreading, as he believes, the gospel of righteousness. There can be no doubt that some soul is startled occasionally out of its lethargy by a sight of one of these sentences. The farmer, driving his load of produce to the city, thinking of nothing but the state of the market, may be suddenly reminded that there are things above the sale of corn and potatoes. The butcher, driving his cattle to the slaughter house, may suddenly recollect that souls, as well as bodies, must have food. The careless pedestrian, sauntering along, thoughtless of any save material wants, may be disagreeably confronted by the thought of spiritual needs. The comfortable man of the world, satisfied with his surroundings, in time may be forcibly reminded of an existence in eternity, wherein worldly goods confer no comfort. The sensualist, the drunkard, the robber, and oppressor may be sometimes brought up standing by one of these wayside sermons. Scoffing will not obliterate the impression. The letters burn on the brain. Like an accusing spirit they follow the man, and will not down at his bidding. When he would laugh, they silence his mirth. He sees them in the bottom of the "social glass." They transform the faces of his former boon companions, and make them hideous. The seed sown by the wayside has taken root, and sometime must bear fruit in character. Such a work may these sentences on fence and stone perform. And if but one soul is made better the patient painter will be rewarded.

Many may laugh at his zealous attempts to reform the world by printing his gospel on a board by the roadside; but it is more sensible to print it in a book? This man has put his message where he who runs may read. It will not be silenced, nor could any prophet scream louder. The flowers by the roadside speak the same, but men cannot hear their voices. Cloud and sunlight, brook and meadow paint the same words, but men are blind to these—they do not heed them. And so this wayside prophet goes forth to paint in characters which still mean something to human eyes (though even these are fast becoming meaningless) the gospel of righteousness. Do not call him over zealous, nor enthusiast. He recognizes the needs of the hour and the blindness of men, and he conforms his conduct to these. When men can read the higher Scriptures his brush will not be needed. But when that time comes many pens will lose employment, and the hum of printing presses will be diminished.—Solon Lauer, in Unity.

THE MEXICAN PENITENTS.

They passed through the streets of the town, where the massive adobe houses, white as marble in the deceptive light, threw shadows black as ink, and presently emerged upon a paved road, which led to a garden set thick with trees. The air was heavy with perfume; hundreds of fire-flies, where the thicket was so dense no ray from the sky might penetrate, seemed to fill the place with ghostly fires. It was enchanting, weird, aye, awe-inspiring. Soon in the near distance they heard a sound as of measured strokes, and a low, continuous moan. The strokes quickened to the whizz of heavy flails, the moan to the dirge of the Miserere. Then they understood, with a shock of horror, that they were about to witness one of the processions of penitents, which, though forbidden by the civil law, still were secretly conducted in remote and fanatical districts. Presently they came from amid the shelter of the trees, like mournful ghosts upon the moonlit road. They were all men—men to whom the memory of their sins was intolerable—and as they walked they wielded the cruel scourges on their bared shoulders, and ceaselessly intoned the dirge. It was past midnight, and for hours they had continued the dreadful flagellation, and the unceasing march. Blood streamed from many a gaping wound; they staggered as they walked; more than once a penitent fell, and was lifted to his feet by the man who walked beside him. All this dismal company were masked; each wore a friar's gown and a rough shirt of hair, which hung pendant from the girdle at the waist, above which was seen the cut and bleeding skin.

NOT ALTOGETHER FRIENDLESS.

The small child is to the front again. He had been naughty. The naughtiness of youth and the naughtiness of age are widely different.

"If you do that nobody will love you," the tender mother told him.

"'Taint so. I know one who'll like me," he answered.

"Who?"

"Satan. He likes the bad ones."—San Francisco Chronicle.

PERVERSITY OF WOMAN'S WILL.

She Consents to Her Daughter's Marriage Because Her Husband Objects.

Scene I.—Place, parlor. Time, 12 midnight. She in his arms. He hugging her with an elaborate intensity damaging to the strings of her upholstery.

He—Darling, I love you better than life. Be mine, sweet one, forever. Be my wife, angel of my existence—will you, pet?

She (softly murmuring)—Yes, dear Johnnie.

Nineteen double æsthetic distilled kisses in one minute by the clock. Grand tableau. The cats sing in joyful unison on the fences in the rear.

* * * * * * *

Scene II.—Place, family sitting room. Time, 12:45 a. m. She blushing by the stove. Her mother, rather wrathy, sitting in the straightest back chair in the apartment.

Mother—Good gracious, Clara, what made him stay so late? I have been sitting up waiting for you until I'm half dead for sleep. Why it's nearly one o'clock.

She—Well, ma, don't blame him. It was all my fault. (Ah! the dear girls; they always defend the men they love—until they legally get him.)

Mother—Why, Clara, what makes you look so funny? So you love this young man?

She (blushing more so, and speaking with the verbal difficulty of heartfelt emotion)—Yes, dear ma, and he loves me, and I promised to-night to be his wife.

Mother—Good gracious sakes alive, child! Why, he is too poor to marry you. What does he make a week now?

She—Twelve dollars, ma; but, oh! his prospects are so bright, and we are both young and can wait, and will, ma.

Mother—Well, you can never marry him. He is too poor, Clara.

She weeps, not only in a wholesale manner, but with elaborate hysterical ornaments.

Mother (relenting a little)—Well, go to bed now, my child. It's very late. I will talk to your father about this matter.

The cats sob in painful harmony on the roof of the extension.

* * * * * * *

Scene III.—Place, bedroom of the head of the family. Time, 1:15 a. m. The mother in bed and husband asleep deeply and snoring musically.

Mother (to husband)—Say, father, John Denny has proposed to our Clara.

Old man stands the assault for a moment, and then, waking up, exclaims profanely:—"Oh, it's you is it? Pretty time to get in bed with cold feet. What the devil do you want now?"

The mother—Aint you ashamed of yourself to talk that way to me? I say that John Denny has proposed to our Clara, and she loves him, too.

Old man—You don't tell me so, Sarah. He's too poor. Do you know what he makes a week now?

The mother—Only $12.

Old man—Oh, he's too devilish poor. She can't marry that church mouse.

The mother (now taking sides with her daughter)—Daniel Webster Jones, I want to ask you what salary you were getting when you cried and blubbered for me some twenty odd years ago?

Old man (in a November tone of voice)—You know, Sarah Jane, I told you then, and you have not forgotten it.

The mother—Well, tell me now, Daniel. You hear me!

Old man—Oh, $8. per week.

The Mother—Well, you got me in time, and I guess our Clara can have the young man she loves. He now beats you by $4 a week. We give our consent. You hear me, Daniel?

Old man—Yes, yes, dear. All right. Now go to sleep. It's late. Good night, dear.

The cats executed a regular breakdown of hilarity on the outer window ledge of the bathroom.—London Rarebits.

CHARACTERISTICS OF DANTE.

To attempt to refine upon Dante is to make him ridiculous. Coarse and grotesque in expression he doubtless is at all times; but the indelicacy is not of that Swinburnean type which revels in rottenness, and for which he would have an appropriate nook in one of his "Bolgias." It is rather inherent in his subject. The dominant sentiment of the "Inferno" is that sin brutalizes. Through successive circles he leads us downward to lower developments of bestiality. His fiends have no affinity with the Miltonian Satan or with the Mephistopheles of Goethe. The polished, sarcastic, keen-witted, sneering, denying devil, and the "archangel ruined," retaining traces of his "original brightness," are alike absent from Dante's hell. His Lucifer, at the apex of the infernal cone, is the supreme incarnation of demoniac animalism. Accordingly, he pictures his devils with all the accompaniments of brutal depravity in word and act and mien. Dante is a plain speaker on whatever subject he is dealing with. He refuses to circumvent or to glide with circumvolution or euphemism. For a translator to attempt to mitigate the plain directness of such passages is to make them doubly offensive.—New Princeton Review.

Buying Slaves in Morocco.

We often visited the slave market, which is, I think, the most interesting sight in Morocco, writes a correspondent. We had all of us read the fearful accounts which the press of Tangier is so fond of repeating, of the terrible doings of slavery in Morocco, and I must confess were most pleasantly surprised. We went very often to the market, but never saw such sights as children separated from their parents, though we saw both sold together in the "lot." Nor did we see many other things of which we have read; in fact, the slaves wore a wonderfully contented, even cheerful, expression while the sale was proceeding. We were much amused at watching one young lady—who, by the way, was rather handsome—alter her expression from sulkiness when an old Moor was looking at her to cheerfulness when a handsome young man began his inspection. So there is coyness even in the wild deserts from which these slaves come. In fact, far from being a painful sight—for by the accounts we have of those who have seen it before they all left "with our eyes full of tears"—we found it rather amusing than otherwise, and I do not know that we are more hard-hearted than the generality of mankind. This I will say, that I would far rather be a slave in Morocco than a peasant. From what, too, I saw of slaves out of the market they appear not to have such a bad time of it, and in many houses enjoy more liberty than paid servants. Of course, there is truth in many of the fearful stories we hear of ill-treatment, but, again, I know an old Moor on whose death all the property goes by will to his slaves. It is not slavery that is so bad; it is the kidnaping that slavery necessitates and the terrible long journey over the scorching desert; but, of course, to put down this kidnaping he must aim at slavery direct. The market is mostly supplied from the Soudan—not the "Soudan" as we call Nubia, but the Soudan that lies south of the Sahara and east of Senegambia, an enormous district of sand—but it is not at all an uncommon sight to see white slaves in the market—Moors and Arabs. The prices average about £3 to £5 a head for all varieties, though we saw one elderly female knocked down for about 22 shillings, much to her own disgust.—London News.

Ringing Noises

In the ears, sometimes a roaring, buzzing sound, are caused by catarrh, that exceedingly disagreeable and very common disease. Loss of smell or hearing also result from catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, is a peculiarly successful remedy for this disease, which it cures by purifying the blood. If you suffer from catarrh, try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the peculiar medicine.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half pound tins by grocers, labeled thus: JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—oughtn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he wont use Ath-lo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way. It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. WEDNESDAY, JAN. 4, 1888.

THE CITY NEWS.

The "Still Alarm" is handsomely billed.

The next Christmas will come on Tuesday.

W. W. Oman, of Bluffton, is in the city to-day.

Ed. Martin was fined for drunkenness at police court this morning.

Charles F. Fought and Florence E. Emerick have been licensed to wed.

Mr. C. D. Tillo is entertaining his friend, Geo. O. Terry, of Clyde, N. Y.

Mrs. O. N, Heaton, of this city, spent the New Years with Huntington friends.

J. F. Bennett has purchased the grocery store of T. W. Blair, on East Main street.

J. J. McKenna, a prominent Knight of Labor from Indianapolis, is in the city to-day.

Mr. M. App, the boot and shoe merchant, is confined to his home by a painful carbuncle.

Peter Tonnelier, of Fostoria, O., who formerly ran a variety theatre on Columbia street, is in the city to-day.

The funeral of Joseph Schwieter took place this morning from the St. Paul's Catholic church and was largely attended.

Misses Helen and Mary Freeman, of Bay City returned home yesterday, after a pleasant visit with their cousin, Miss Gertrude Green.

Deputy Sheriff Schrader took Frank Merriweather to the state insane asylum yesterday and young Devany, a vicious lad, to the reform school.

The days are getting perceptibly longer, and they will continue to do so until the 21st of June, when the longest day in the year is reached.

The engine used in the "Still Alarm" was built by the Seneca Falls company, and is said to be a beauty. It is not as heavy as our regular fire engines.

The managers of the "Still Alarm" company wager 1,000 dollars that their horses will answer the alarm and hitch up quicker than any team in the world.

F. N. Watson, Three Rivers, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Jackson, Ligonier; O. N. Abbott, Mansfield, Ohio, were guests of the Aveline house last evening.

Mr. Dennis Gorman, a very pleasant young gentleman, is again at his desk in the county auditor's office having completely recovered from his recent illness.

Mr. A. D. McConehey, wife of the Wabash brakeman who was scalded to death in his bath at the state hospital for the insane, several months since, visited friends at Huntington and Andrews this week.

The officers of St. Julian council, Catholic Legion, were duly installed last night at their parlors in Library hall, by Deputy Supreme Chancellor Thomas Meegan. The Legion is in a flourishing condition.

Deputy Sheriff Buck Stanley, of Logansport, accompanied by James Noverton, were in the city last night en route to Grand Rapids. Stanley is the man who captured Amer Green, Luella Mabbits murderer, in Texas.

The new school building on Barr street of the St. Paul's Lutheran church was dedicated this morning with interesting ceremonies. Rev. Sauer delivered the address and the children of the school rendered some very delightful music.

Nels Monsir, the restaurant keeper and Daniel Nestle, the father of Commodore Foote and Fairy Queen, got into a controversy last night and closed with blows. Mr. Monsir struck Mr. Nestle in the face and was fined $5 and costs by Justice France.

County Treasurer Isaac Mowrer and his assistant, Mr. Cas Hunter, went to Indianapolis this morning to settle with the state treasurer. Mr. Mowrer will transfer to the state credit something like $38,000, but from that sum comes Allen county's share of the school fund.

Mr. J. H. Ungemach, the teacher of the Barr street Lutheran schools, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his occupation as a teacher on Monday last and in the evening he was tendered a very pleasant surprise by the members of the church choir, the young men of the congregation and the Euphonia quartet. He was the recipient of a number of handsome presents and was tendered an interesting serenade by the Euphonia quartet. The evening was an enjoyable one.

The 1st day of July and the 1st day of January are the dates when all the fines collected by the justices of the county and by the mayor of Fort Wayne are paid to the county treasurer. These fines go into the school fund, and only the interest on the principal is used.

The heads of several conductors on the Lake Shore have dropped into the basket the past week. Three of the oldest men on the road, Messrs. Case, known as "Father Case," John Gerling, known as "Uncle John," and T. Wallsley have all succumbed to the irrepressible guillotine.

The Logansport Pharos says: "Col. I. B. McDonald, of Columbia City, the well-known democratic editor and politician, was in the city to-day. The colonel feels jubilant over the democratic victory yesterday in this city. He says the democracy in northern Indiana have been in better shape since 1852, when Pierce was elected. He thinks Cleveland will carry the country in 1888."

Warren Sayre, of Wabash, was at Indianapolis the other day, and surrendered to the eloquent pleadings of a life insurance agent. When he had finally consented to take out a policy, the agent began firing the conventional interrogations at him, concerning his age, health, antecedents, etc. One of the questions was: "Was any member of your family ever affected with insanity?" Sayre studied a moment, and then said in his droll way: "Well, none that I know of, but since I got an idea of trying to be governor some of the family have been eyeing me rather suspiciously."

The supreme court had decided in a case where damages were claimed for injuries at a railroad crossing, that there is no presumption that a person injured at a highway and railroad crossing with which he was familiar, was himself free from negligence. Prima facie the fault was his own and the proof should show, in an action by him for damages, that he was in the exercise of due care. The failure of the railroad company to perform its statutory duty as to sounding the whistle of its engine was not sufficient cause of the injury. Persons who could have avoided injury by exercising the opportunity to look for approaching trains will be regarded as having made the attempt to cross after having seen the train approach.

Dr. Geo. Stemen returned last night from Kansas City.

The Pittsburg road will probably change their time table on next Sunday.

Frank W. Rawles sues Thomas Tiernan et al. for $200. W. H. Shambaugh is his attorney.

Mrs. S. Pottlitzer leaves this evening for a two months' visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. Rinaldo, of New York City.

Dr. J. W. McCausland left last night for Valparaiso to assist in a surgical operation, and will return this evening.

Kind people in the vicinity of the Randall fire gave the firemen hot coffee, and to say that the men appreciated it does not express their feelings.

Rev. Father Werdein, of Arcola, was in the city to-day. Father Werdein is entertaining his mother, who came from New York state to visit her son.

Lawrence Emerick, the son of Mr. Lewis Emerick, of Union township, Whitley county, died yesterday and will be buried to-morrow at Lindenwood.

The meeting of the Woman's Foreign missionary society, of the Berry street M. E. church, will be held on Friday at 2:30 p. m., instead of Thursday, as announced from the pulpit.

Marshal Frank Supple, of Columbia City, is in town and his friends are heaping congratulations on him. He was handsomely vindicated by the people of Columbia City at the election out there last Monday.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. William Schwartz died yesterday. The funeral took place this morning from the residence of the parents, 91 Williams street. Mr. Swartz is is an engineer on the Pittsburg road.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Thieme, of Jackson street, and Mr. Charles E. Crall, of the American Farmer, returned last evening from Ashland, Ohio, where they were the guests of relatives during the holidays. Monday evening they attended an elegant reception and banquet at Ashland.

Mr. M. A. Britton, of Mt. Morenci, Mich., and Miss Carrie Satherthwaite, of Holloway, Mich., were married at the Aveline house parlors yesterday by Rev. D. C. Woolpert. Since the free Michigan marriage law was annulled, Indiana is turning the tables on its sister state and lovers now laugh at stern parents on Hoosier soil.

Rev. D. S. Kennedy, the popular pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, will in a few weeks lead to the matrimonial altar Miss Frances Shulze, the accomplished daughter of Mr. Shulze, of Root & Co. The Sentinel extends its choicest congratulations in advance to the reverend gentleman and his prospective bride.

Mrs. Diana Burrett, aged twenty-seven, of St. Joe township, this county, died very suddenly yesterday of heart disease. The coroner was summoned and held an inquest upon the body of the deceased lady and found a verdict in accordance with the above facts. The funeral took place this afternoon.

Mrs. Rebecca Geake, the wife of Mr. John J. Geake, the prominent contractor, died this morning at her home, No. 10 West street, at the age of forty-eight years. Mrs. Geake was an estimable lady and leaves a large circle of friends to mourn her untimely death. The time of the funeral has not yet been announced.

Mr. S. E. Morss, formerly editor of The Sentinel, is a guest of the Aveline house. Mr. Morss did not associate himself with the Chicago Times under its new management and will not accept a place on its staff, although one was offered him. Mr. Morss will remain in the city a few days before deciding his business plans.

Lafayette street, at the railroad crossing, needs a viaduct, it being the most dangerous crossing in the city and having no protection beyond a watchman. That part of Lafayette from Lewis to Wallace streets is one of the most important thoroughfares in the east end, being lined with business houses and used daily by thousands of employes of the different shops and factories. The council, at its last meeting, appointed a committee, who meet Thursday to act on the matter.

The statement contained in the News last evening that Queen Esther would be given by the Philalathian society is incorrect, as it is under the management of Mrs. W. F. Yocum. By request the society very kindly gave their hall for the Tuesday night rehearsals. On Saturday nights they will be held in the Sunday school room of the Wayne street church. The rehearsal last evening, under the direction of Professor Woolsey, was a complete success, both as to numbers and work accomplished.

CLEAN YOUR SIDEWALKS.

A Howl From One Who Has to Shovel.

The street commissioner hereby notifies all persons that the ice in front of their premises must be cleared off forthwith. The condition of many sidewalks is dangerous, and the street commissioner's order is a proper one.—Journal.

A very righteous order. But the eternal justice and fitness of things doth not yet appear in requiring Mr. A., who has a thirty-foot front, to clean his walk, while Mr. B., who owns whole blocks of unimproved property, and wont sell a lot for a reasonable consideration, is permitted to allow the young mountains of snow on his sidewalk to remain undisturbed. It is a truly great satisfaction to a foot traveler to walk over a few feet of swept sidewalk and then wade knee-deep through the snow for a whole block in front of vacant lots. If the parties who hold these lots were compelled to render compliance with the above order in all seasons real estate would probably settle down somewhat and the city grow correspondingly; to say nothing of the comfort to pedestrians. In the beautiful and impressive language of the St. Louis platform—"Reform is necessary."

Important Railroad Changes.

The following changes took place yesterday in the Detroit division of the Lake Shore railroad:

Mr. S. S. Hand, superintendent of the Detroit division, with headquarters at Detroit, to succeed Mr. G. H. Worcester, who has resigned to take an important position with another company.

Mr. J. W. McKenney, agent at Detroit, vice Mr. S. S. Hand, promoted.

Mr. D. G. Sutfin, agent at Grand Rapids, vice Mr. J. W. McKenney, transferred.

Mr. Robert McBride, agent at West Detroit, vice Mr. J. B. Grimshaw, transferred.

Geo. Belmy Dead Out West.

Thomas, Ari., Dec. 28, 1887.

Postmaster, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Dear Sir:—A young man by name of Geo. Behney, or Belmy, died here a few days ago, leaving some money and other effects. I understand his uncle lives in your neighborhood. I would like to find out the whereabouts of his sister, Mrs. Lilly Raymond. Please insert notice in your local paper and send me bill, when I will remit. Respectfully,

J. H. O'Neil,
Deputy Sheriff.

A Mrs. Raymond used to live here at 192 Broadway, but she has moved away. The postmaster would like to have some information from the relatives of the young man.

HOOD'S COMPOUND EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA — TRADE MARK

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is worthy your confidence. It is peculiar in that it strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. Give it a trial.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

TWENTY-FIVE DROWNED.

An American Vessel Wrecked and Her Crew Drowned.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—An 1,800 ton bark, believed to be an American vessel, has been wrecked at the entrance to Waterford (Ireland) harbor. Her crew of twenty-five persons are all drowned.

Bogardus' Challenge.

DAYTON, O., Jan. 4.—The finish of Bogardus, in the Winston match of one hundred live birds, each, for a purse of $500 was a brilliant affair, the clear sunshiny day giving victory to Bogardus in a score of 82 to 80. Bogardus at the close of the match mounted a stump and announced his challenge to any man in America to shoot at 100 live birds, $1,000 to $5,000 a side Hurlingham rules, the match to be shot after April first.

Players Signed.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4.—President Nimick, of the Pittsburg club, yesterday signed Fred Dunlap, Mardy Henderson and Albert Maul, of the Philadelphia club, John Coleman also signed with the Pittsburg club a few days ago.

WHILE workmen were excavating the site for the new postoffice and custom house at San Antonio, Texas, the other day, they unearthed a large quantity of human bones buried in promiscuous heaps. The spot where the ghastly discovery was made was once the very heart of the historic fortifications and battle ground known to fame as "The Alamo," and is situated immediately across the street from the celebrated church containing the relics of those primitive days. The remains are undoubtedly those of the thousand or more Mexicans belonging to Santa Anna's army who fell while storming the refuge of the pioneers. The bones have been gathered up by the city and decently interred. Coincident with the discovery comes the announcement that Mme. Candelaria, the Mexican lady who proved a warm friend to the early Americans during their struggle for liberty, has been found in San Antonio living in poverty. She is 100 years old, and steps are on foot looking to a public subscription in her behalf. Mme. Candelaria was in "The Alamo" with Crocket and Col. Travis when the massacre occurred. She was actually holding the fearless Col. Bowie up in his bed when the Mexicans entered and butchered him. She was nursing Bowie, who had typhoid fever.

BLOODY FIGHT!

Takes Place Between the White and Colored Troops of Jefferson Barracks, at St. Louis, Mo.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 4.—A revolt occurred at Jefferson barracks yesterday evening between the white and colored United States soldiers, which resulted in injuring many men, and probably will cost three men their lives. At this time there are many recruits at this station, and yesterday they drew their first pay and made an onslaught on the sutler. Numerous brawls resulted and a crowd from New York resented the familiarity of the colored troops, and fight followed fight.

The guard house was filled with disorderly persons and still the rows kept up. Late in the afternoon a drunken colored trooper was seen pursuing a fourteen-year-old white girl and a party of white troopers were soon after him and in due time handed him over to the officer of the day. This seemed to enrage a number of his comrades and they forthwith left the barracks and started for the Carondelet. On their way they fell in with a squad of white troopers and proceeded to take vengeance.

The white soldiers made their escape with a few bruises and made their way to the barracks, where they soon made up a party to handle the revolters. Armed with revolvers and carbines, they started in good order from the Carondolet, but before they had gone far they were ordered to return and disarm by the officer of the day. They refused to return to their quarters, but laid down their arms at once and then proceeded after the enemy.

At the river bridge they met the colored troopers returning. An encounter immediately followed and knives, clubs and rocks were used against each other. For half an hour the battle waged without any advantage on either side, and on the bridge road and river bed men lay exhausted and beaten. Finally the belligerents, blinded and played out, withdrew. The mutineers dispersed and they were arrested in detachments on a general order to arrest all troopers. In the hospital at the point of death lie Troopers Livingston, Peterson and Krummenknocker, all white. At one time in the afternoon over 300 men were looking for a row.

PIG IRON.

The Past Year a Remarkable One in Its Production.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4.—General Manager James M. Swank, of the American Iron and Steel association, says: The year which has just closed was one of great activity and fair prosperity for the iron trade of this country. The production in all the leading branches of the manufacture of iron and steel was the largest in our history—larger than in the remarkable year 1886, when all previous achievements were left far behind.

We estimate our production of pig iron in 1887 at 6,250,000 gross tons, or 600,000 tons more than in 1886. Our production of Bessemer steel rails in 1887 was about 195,000 gross tons, or about 375,000 tons more than in 1886. In addition to our large production of pig iron in 1887, we also consumed about 300,000 tons of imported pig iron and about 160,000 tons of imported steel rails.

A RAILROAD COLLISION

On the Missouri Pacific Wrecks the Engines and Injures Two Employes.

GALVESTON, Texas, Jan. 4—The north bound passenger train on the Missouri Pacific road, which left Galveston at 6:30 this morning, collided at 9 o'clock, near Houston, with a section of the St. Louis south-bound express. Both locomotives were badly wrecked, but no passengers were injured.

Engineer Ward, of the north-bound train, and a mail agent, name unknown, are the only ones reported injured. Neither was seriously hurt.

Editor Cowles' Health.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 4.—Recent letters received from Edwin Cowles, editor of the Leader, states that owing to ill health he will probably be compelled to spend the entire winter in Europe. He is located at Bournamot, an English watering place, where he will probably spend the winter.

Cincinnati Base Ball Club.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 4.—The manager of the Cincinnati base ball club yesterday decided to have the club spend the winter practicing and giving exhibition games south. Manager Schmels left to-day for the south to make the necessary arrangements.

CONGRESS!

Convenes and Senator Sherman Addresses the Senate on the President's Message.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Senator Cullom presented several petitions of Illinois state grange, endorsing the interstate law, favoring government ownership of telegraph lines, denouncing gambling in "futures," favoring the restriction of immigration as proposed in the Regan bill, opposing abolition of the whisky and tobacco tax and favoring the placing of salt, lumber, sugar, etc., on the free list.

Among the bills introduced and referred were the following: By Cullom, an amendment to his postal telegraph bill; by Blair, to encourage the holding of the national industrial exposition of arts, mechanics and products of the colored race throughout the United States in Atlanta, Ga., in 1888 and 1889. The senate then took up the resolution for the distribution of the president's annual message and was addressed by Senator Sherman.

At 12:45 p. m. Senator Sherman took the floor and began his speech on the president's message.

Senator Sherman concluded his remarks at 2 o'clock, and Senator Voorhees took the floor and began a speech on the same subject.

Senator Sherman's speech was listened to with close attention and when he had concluded he was congratulated by his republican associates. Mr. Blair requested that the educational bill be laid aside until Voorhees had replied to Sherman. Mr. Voorhees then began his speech in defense of the president's message.

HOUSE.

Speaker Carlisle expected to be able to announce the house committees today, but owing to the necessity of seeing certain members who he proposed to reassign to other committees, he was compelled to abandon his intention. It is thought the last will be finished tonight and announced to the house tomorrow.

Mr. Springer, of Illinois introduced a bill for the organization of Oklahoma into a territory.

WHO FORGED THESE BONDS?

Startling Revelations Brought Out in the D., Ft. W. & C. Receivership Suit.

DAYTON, O., Jan. 4.—In the case of Charles Heinsheimer, asking for a receiver for the Dayton, Fort Wryne and Chicago road, a sensation was created yesterday, when Judge Harmor read the answer of the road denying that the road issued the bonds in question, and saying that if such a series is outstanding they were fraudulently and unlawfully obtained from the trustees by Henry S. Ives, and by him disposed of on his own or his firm's private account. Another surprise to large holders of the stock was a revelation made by Auditor Ramsey, when he stated that among the liabilities of the road are notes issued in New York to the amount of $198,000. These statements came to Ramsey through the firm of Henry S. Ives & Co.

A LUCKY ACCIDENT

Opens the River for Coal Traffic and 8,000,000 Bushels Are Moving.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 4.—This morning the tow boat, Little Bill, in attempting to pass through a narrow passage made by the lowering of some wickets at Davis Island dam, struck one of the broken wickets, knocked it down, cleaning the channel for a space of 200 feet. The boats are now passing through the opening made by the accident and about 3,000,000 bushels of coal will get out for shipment to Cincinnati and Louisville, instead of one million bushels as was expected. No damage was done to the Little Bill by the lucky collision. The river is exceding slowly with seven feet and one inch in the channel.

The Big Reading Strike.

READING, Pa., Jan. 4.—The fact that there is a coal miners strike in the Schuylkill regions is already perceptible all along the main line and branches of the Reading railroad. It was fearful that there would be a stagnation in the coal traffic during the twenty-four hours ending with noon to-day, but 1,000 cars of coal sent through the city in place of the accustomed 5,000 and 6,000 cars in that time, the superintendent of the Pennsylvania road says that the company is now hauling 1,600 tons of coal a day and that this capicity could be increased to 7,000 tons. The general impression here is that the miners employed in the individual collieries will also strike when they find that it is being handled by non-union train men.

The Reading railroad company's forty-five mines are stopped and 20,000 miners, at least, are idle. Some place the number of idle men as high as 50,000 in the Scuylkill basin alone, which with 20,000 in the Lehigh, make the number quite formidable.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4.—The price of coal has gone up 50 and 75 cents a ton and a coal famine is imminent.

Danish Minister.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 4.—Count De Spoonneck, secretary of the Danish legation at St. Petersburg, has been appointed Danish minister to the United States. He will enter upon the duty of his post in February.

THE KOUTZ WRECK.

The Indictment Against Passenger Conductor Park Is Quashed by the Court.

VALPARAISO, Ind., Jan. 4.—In the case of John B. Park, a passenger conductor, for involuntary manslaughter in the Koutz wreck on the Chicago and Atlantic road, Judge Field to-day sustained the defendant's motion to squash the indictment. The state appealed to the supreme court. The judge decided that the present Indiana statute for criminal carelessness is deficient and that indictment could not stand because it did not allege Park guilty of evil intent and he could not be punished for the mere omission of duty.

THE OIL PANIC

Still Continues to Excite the Brokers and Prices Rise.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 4.—There was another exciting time at the oil exchange to-day, shortly after the opening. Prices declined 6 cents. The sudden break caused a panic among the holders of long oil and for a time there was intense excitement. One man in the lobby, who was said to be a heavy holder of long oil, fainted. The trading was the heaviest for many months and prices reached the highest point since 1885. The range of values were, at the opening, 96½; highest, 97½; lowest, 91½; 1 o'clock, 94½.

Don't Want German Taught.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 4.—At a joint meeting of the course of study and ways and means committees of the public school board last night, it was decided that the German language shall not be taught in the public schools of this city after this month. There is no doubt but that the full board will acquiesce in this action, and that an order will be issued to the above effect.

THE K. OF L. CONVENTION.

Proceedings of the State Organization To-Day—The Session to Continue.

The state assembly, K. of L., met promptly at 9 o'clock this morning, with B. F. Jacks, of Lebanon, in the chair. State Master Workman Taylor arrived this forenoon, but did not participate in the convention until after dinner. The convention began work by receiving reports of committees. Nearly all the day the report of the committee on constitution and by-laws has been under consideration, and will perhaps consume the remainder of the day. A number of new delegates arrived and were admitted to-day. There is much work still to be done by the convention, including the election of officers, and it is probable that all day to-morrow will be necessary to complete the work. The convention has been marked by good feeling throughout, and everything calculated to create dissension has been promptly squelched.

At the Princess rink to-night the visitors will be tendered a grand reception.

CONDUCTOR LEACH.

Nothing Can be Recovered for His Death.

Conductor Leach, of the Wabash railroad, was killed near Fort Wayne, in November, 1886. The administrator of his estate, Ossian N. Leach, soon afterward instituted suit in the United States district court against the railroad company for $10,000 damages. Master in Chancery Fishback, to whom the case was referred, yesterday made a report to the court, at Indianapolis, that the company was not liable, and recommended that the claim be disallowed.

LOCAL NEWS.

Deputy Sheriff Wilkinson will take Mrs. Gilchrist to the state insane asylum to-morrow.

Mr. Sam Miller continues very low. He is unconscious most of the time, and powerful opiates are administered to him.

Mayor Muhler paid into the county treasury to-day $622, the amount of fines collected by him in the last six months.

Julian Kaough, brother of Postmaster Wm. Kaough was very bad this afternoon and his death was momentarily expected.

A young man named Baird, who hails from Swann, Ind., was picked up on the streets last night a raving maniac. He has been at work here in an ax handle factory.

Mary Bright, an inmate of the St. Joe hospital, was adjudged insane today. She imagines she sees angels and visions of the devil. These dethroned her reason.

Miss Amelia Ortlieb, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ortlieb, during the holidays, returned to her studies at the Sacred Heart convent yesterday.

Rev. Father Walsh, the distinguished president of Notre Dame university, will lecture at Library hall to-night, on "Voltaire." THE SENTINEL can commend this as a great literary treat.

AN EXPLOSION

Of a Large Amount of Saltpetre at a Fire Injures Several Persons—Fires Elsewhere.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—At 6 o'clock this morning a fire engine was called to the corner of Canal Port avenue and Halstead street to extinguish a blaze in a general provision store. Across the way was a meat shop, containing a large supply of saltpetre. As the firemen were getting the fire under control the saltpetre exploded, destroying the shop and severely injuring several persons, among whom were Lieutenant Foley and a druggist named Franklin. The loss by fire was $1,000.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 4.—The new Turner hall, on Canal street, in Allegheny City, a large three-story frame structure, was burned this morning. Loss, $18,000; partly insured.

A NIGHT OF FIRES.

The Mansion Home of Hon. F. P. Randall the Scene of a Disastrous Blaze—Other Fires.

Just after 9 o'clock last night a fire was discovered in Phillip Nestle's building at the corner of Lafayette and Lewis street. The boot and shoe and leather store conducted in the block was damaged to the extent of possibly $100, while the tailor shop adjoining was also burned out. The building was not damaged and everything is insured.

At 4 o'clock this morning an alarm called the department to the wine rooms of Boltz & Mannix, on Calhoun street, where a fire was raging in the cellar. The firemen promptly flooded the place and subdued the blaze. The damage is less than $200, with plenty of insurance to cover the loss.

The next call, at 6:30 this morning, summoned the fireman to the mansion home of Hon. F. P. Randall, on East Berry street. A fire was making headway in the northeast portion of the house, directly under the Mansard slate roof. The firemen went to work, but the task was more than they could master. The flames crept along the woodwork, serpent like, until they fastened their fiery fangs on the upper or attic portion of the handsome residence. The firemen cut the roof away in portions and crept into the blazing windows, but in spite of their heroic efforts the fire completely encircled the upper floor, burning the roof timbers, the partitions to the house maid apartments and the woodwork that lined the brick walls.

This is the extent of the damage up there, but all this time a flood of water ran down the stairways and dripped through the floors to the rooms below.

The furniture, tapestries and furnishings of the lower rooms were hastily removed, but many of the carpets, tables, bureaus and dressing cases had to remain and bear the elements.

The ceiling decorations and the walls and spacious hall ways are entirely soiled, so thoroughly did the water permeate every part, and no wonder, when two streams were poured steadily into the house from 6:30 until 10 o'clock in the morning.

The home that has been the scene of so many notable social gatherings for almost half a century is now desolate and tenantless, for the family must seek shelter elsewhere until their house is repaired.

Mr. Randall and his folks were asleep when the fire broke out. The fright of so sudden and fearful a waking tells on them severely.

Mr. Randall's valuable floral conservatory, east of the residence, is slightly damaged, but the magnificent tropical plants can be saved.

"The house is insured for $5,000 in the Hartford company, of Hartford, Conn," said Mr. Randall this morning, "but I feel that $2,500 will cover our loss."

COLUMBIA CITY.

Municipal Officers Chosen there Last Monday.

Some time ago the people of Columbia City voted to incorporate that town and last Monday the first officers of that municipality were elected as follows:

Mayor—J. W. Adair.
Clerk—Arthur Hoover.
Treasurer—Walter J. Tyrce.
Marshal—Frank Supple.
Assessor—John Weinderlich.
Councilmen—First ward, James Washburn and A. P. Mitten; Second ward, C. S. Edwards and C. J. Evanson; Third ward, James Hoorth and John R. Tauer.

The democratic ticket was elected by majorities as high as 150 save in the contest for marshal, when Frank Supple, republican, defeated C. B. Tully, by 56 votes, almost reversing the order of things.

KEPT HIS EYES OPEN

He Had to on a Dull Day Like This or He Wouldn't Have Got Any News at All.

The car wheel department of the Bass works is now running at full blast.

Henry Eider, a moulder in the Bass works, is taking a few days vacation.

The clerks of the manufacturing establishments are now through with their annual inventories.

Fred Feiler, formerly of the Bass works, but now employed at Chicago, is visiting friends in this city.

John Coppernoll, of the Wabash freight office, has returned from a visit among relatives in Michigan.

The Edison incandescent lights were introduced into the Pittsburg shops last night and worked like a charm.

This is a dull month for the railroads in the way of passenger traffic and the passenger agents can take life easy.

George Trenam has resigned his position at the Masonic Temple to take a position in the Pittsburg freight office.

F. W. Dunham, of the Olds works, has purchased a beautiful new cutter and now flies around the streets behind his high-stepping Texas.

Robert Harrison, the foreman in the Pittsburg car shops, was taken sick yesterday morning and has been confined to his home to-day also.

Capt. F. F. Boltz, the secretary of the Olds wheel works, drives a "high stepper" that allows no other horse to pass him when on the road.

E. B. White, a machinist in the Pittsburg shops, left for his home at Elkhart yesterday to spend a few days in nursing a carbuncle on his left arm.

William Swartz, one of the popular engineers on the Wabash, is being congratulated over the arrival of a bright-eyed little girl baby at his house.

Superintendent Stevens and Trainmaster Boughton went east this morning on the Wabash in their special car attached to passenger train No. 42.

The snow that accumulates on the platform at the Wabash depot is a great inconvenience to passengers. It should be removed before it gets packed down.

H. O. Crosby, of the Wabash freight office, says that they are twins and both boys, too. He has been setting up cigars ever since Monday, when the little fellows arrived.

R. F. Douglas, the assistant ticket agent of the Wabash, will return from the east to-morrow. We do not believe the reports that have been circulated about Robert's marriage.

One of the employes in the Bass blacksmith shops has the nickname of "Texas," and the boys were trying to make our reporter believe, this morning, that he was a brother of "Texas Jack."

E. G. Anderson and Martin Gross, two popular employes of the Pennsylvania company, have received deserved promotions at the hands of R. R. Rossington, the freight agent of the company.

Allen Throckmorton, an employe in the Pittsburg blacksmith shops, while returning to work yesterday noon, slipped on the sidewalk and received such severe injuries that he will be unable to resume his position for a few days.

December was a fatal month to men in the freight services. On Indianapolis roads six were killed, or so injured that they died from the injuries when coupling cars, and three were killed by falling from moving cars.

Frank Scheid, a machinist in the Pittsburg shops, met with a severe and painful accident yesterday, while at work running his slotter, which resulted in the loss of his thumb nail and splitting his thumb open to the bone. He had the injured member dressed and showed his nerve by resuming work at once.

William Stuerman, an employe in the boiler department of the Bass works, slipped on the ice in the yards of the works yesterday afternoon and, it is thought, broke one of his ribs. He at least received severe injuries and will be kept from work for some time. He is a married man and lives on the Manmee road.

The machinists in the Pittsburg shops held a shooting match in White's addition, on Monday afternoon, and out of a possible thirty the following is the score: William Brown, 13; F. Fitzpatrick, 28; George Schmoll, 26; F. Mennewisch, 12, and James Brown 30. James Brown carried off the laurels, but "Hank" says he will "get there next time, Ell."

John B. Gough, the far-famed lecturer, excused himself to an audience because of a bad cold, then started for Egypt in the hope of getting rid of it. Egypt contains no remedy more certain in its result than Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

E. A. K. HACKETT, Editor and Proprietor.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 4, 1888.

THE civilized world bowed its acknowledgments to the pope.

GOVERNOR FORAKER, of Ohio, is bidding for the republican presidential nomination. He attempts to criticise President Cleveland's demand for a reduction of taxation.

HON. C. L. MURRAY states that the Phalanx, the state prohibition organ at Indianapolis, has sunk $1,500 per year for the stockholders and dwindled the prohibition vote in the great city of Indianapolis down to ninety.

EDITOR SCOTT RAY announces that he is in receipt of a letter from Governor Hill, stating that it would be impossible for him to attend the democratic meeting at Indianapolis, January 11. The legislature of New York is in session and the governor could not possibly absent himself from Albany on that account.

MAYOR HEWITT, the great democratic politician of New York, has sounded the key-note of that party in that state for 1888. He declares open and undying opposition to organized labor as a more important issue than even the other great hobby of the democratic party, free trade.—Huntington Herald.

Mayor Hewitt declared nothing of the sort and as his position has been misrepresented he replied to the inquiries of a friend as follows: "I have not seen the reports of the speech to which you refer and, as a rule, pay very little attention to them. What you desire to know, however, is doubtless the view which I really hold in regard to the matter which was under consideration, namely, the right of secret trade organizations to interfere with the duties of common carriers. It is a well-settled principle of the law that common carriers cannot set up a defense against the performance of their duty to the public that there is a refusal of their employes to work. It is the duty of the common carrier to secure the necessary labor for the work of transportation. If, then, the duty of a common carrier is so imperative, any interference with this duty, except through the agencies of the law, is a direct attack upon public property. My criticism was directed to this phase of the question only. I do not object to trade organizations, but when they undertake to interfere with public rights, they become criminal and should be punished. In fact, the courts have never failed in any case when the question has been presented to hold the offending party responsible. Public men, however, claiming to be statesmen, have, by their failure to take the right ground on this question, given encouragement to secret organizarions to attack the public interest. Against such a failure of this kind I have urged the democratic party to take decided ground. This I did a year ago in a well-known letter to the Brooklyn democratic club, and have since repeated this view whenever I have had occasion to refer to the subject."

BEGINNING his 831 year, M. Ferdinand de Lesseps can look around, says the London News, and see but very few men of anything like equal eminence who are as old as he. The German Emperor is 90, Dr. Dollinger is 88, Moltke and Bancroft the historian are each 87, Kossuth is 85 and Prof. Owen is 83; but it is not easy to extend the list. Yet it is not astonishing to note the large number of living great men who have passed the ordinary limit of human life. Of sovereigns the Pope is 77, and King William of the Netherlands is well on in his 71st year. Of statesmen Mr. Gladstone will be 79 next month, Mr. Bright is 76, Prince Bismarck is 72, M. Jules Grevy is 74, M. Leon Say and M. Leroyer are each 71, Lord Selborne is 75, Sir Rutherford Alcock is 78, Lord Sherbrooke is 76, and Lord Granville is 72. Of Generals MacMahon is 79, Leboeuf is 78, and Bazaine and Cialdini are each 76. Of poets, Lord Tennyson is 78, Mr. Browning is 75, and Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes is 78. Of musicians, M. Verdi is 73. Of engineers, Lord Armstrong is 77, and Sir John Hawkshaw is 76. Of painters, Meissonier is 72; and finally of showmen, Barnum is 77. Perhaps, however, M. Chevreul, who is fairly started upon his 102 year, ought not to be omitted.

THE chateau of Chantilly, generously presented by the Duc d' Aumale to the French nation, is to be finally completed according to the old original design at the Duke's expense. The large stables will be raised in height and decorated, while the ornamental sculptures left unfinished at the end of the last century are now to be added. The Duke is also arranging the galleries to contain the library and art collections, so that when the institute takes possession the old palace will be ready for opening to the public.

WM. KAOUGH,
Postmaster.

MR. EDWARD WESTON, the electrician, says: "It is well known that the nitrate of amyl possesses the power of causing insensibility very quickly in a human being breathing its fumes. The effect is equivalent temporarily to a paralytic stroke. Now, nitrate of amyl is very cheap and very plentiful. I propose to fire shells filled with this chemical instead of gunpowder. It will not be necessary to penetrate a ship. A few gallons of this nitrate dashed on the deck of a war ship would soon render her crew helpless. The most powerful ironclads would be even more vulnerable than the light cruisers, for they would be sucking down great draughts of air through their artificial ventilators, and the odor would thus rapidly permeate the whole ship. The whole crew being rendered helpless for an hour or two, the ship could, of course, be towed into a safe spot, while the captors ventilated her and removed the insensible men."

No home should be without it to arrest disorders promptly, which, if not taken in season often develop into serious diseases. Rev. James M. Rollins, pastor M. E. church, S., Fairfield, Va., writes: "I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only family medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness."

I give honor to whom it is due. Dr. David Kennedy's favorite remedy cured me of Bright's disease and Gravel. Four of the best physicians had failed to relieve me. I have recommended it to scores of people with like success, and know it will cure all who try it.—Mrs. E. P. Mizner, Burg Hill, O. Send 2c. stamp to Dr. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for book how to cure Kidney, Liver and Blood Disorders. Mention this paper.

We have sold Ely's Cream Balm about three years, and have recommended its use in more than a hundred special cases of catarrh. The unanimous answer to our inquiries is, "It's the best remedy that I have ever used." Our experience is, that where parties continued its use, it never failed to cure.—J. H. Montgomery & Co., Druggists, Decorah, Iowa.

I have used Ely'y Cream Balm for dry catarrh (to which eastern persons are subject who come to live here). It has proved a cure.—B. F. M. Weeks, Denver, Col.

Syrup of Figs.

Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Co., San Francisco, Cal., is Nature's own true laxative. This pleasant California liquid fruit remedy may be had of Theime and Gross, druggists, large bottles at fifty cents or one dollar. It is the most pleasant, prompt, and effective remedy known to cleanse the system; to act on the Liver, Kidneys, and bowels gently yet thoroughly; to dispel Headaches, Colds and Fevers; to cure Constipation, Indigestion, and kindred ills.

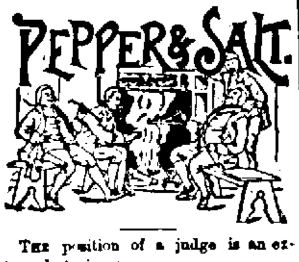

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

RETRIBUTION.

The shades of night were falling fast,
When through our sanctum sanctum passed
A youth hal f clad in snow and ice,
Who scorned the placard's bold device:
SHUT THE DOOR!

The pressman in the cellar dim
At midnight dark discovers him.
Our chief the elevator-shaft
Himself had opened to the draft,
Nor heeded there the legend trim:
SHUT THE DOOR!

There in the gloom, all cold and gray,
Lifeless, but beautiful he lay;
While far above the legend shone,
Close by the sanctum telephone:
SHUT THE DOOR!

GREEN AND DRY LUMBER.

A discussion is going the rounds of the press as to the relative strength of wet and dry timber. We do not believe there is much to be made out of the discussion. Some kinds of timber are stronger when dry, while other kinds are stronger when wet or green. It is safe to say that all woods are harder and less liable to bend when dry than when wet or green. But most hard woods when wet will possess more tensile strength than when dry.

Timber thoroughly seasoned is more brittle than when green, and with the necessary force will break square off, while the same timber green would stand about the same pressure by bending without breaking. Take a hickory sapling that it is almost impossible to break, in its green state, although it may bend double, and thoroughly dry it, and you may easily break it almost "square off," as the boys say. So with almost any kind of timber. Drying makes it stiffer, more unyielding, but in few instances stronger.—American Cultivator.

EDUCATION is a good thing when it does not directly unfit a man for working for a living.—Philadelphia Call.

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS.

A Scaly, Itching Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the Cuticura Remedies twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $200.00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless, and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring worm, psoriasis, etc. I took .... and .... Sarsaparillas over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the Cuticura Remedies too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of Cuticura, and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent and two cakes of Cuticura Soap. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200.00, you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and one Improved Inhaler, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00.

That's So

Relief is certain for the despondent feelings of the dyspeptic, the constipated habit of the sedentary, the headaches of the nervous and bilious, by the simple use of Simmons Liver Regulator,—easy to take, not nauseating or disgusting, not more bitter than a glass of beer and far more grateful. It is no intoxicating beverage, but it tones up the system, settles the stomach, assists digestion, regulates the bowels, and stimulates the Liver. Take it once and you will discard all other medicines.

"I have used many remedies for Dyspepsia, Liver Affection and Debility, but never have found anything to benefit me to the extent that Simmons Liver Regulator has. I would advise all who are similarly affected to give it a trial as it seems the only thing that never fails to relieve."—P. M. JANNEY, Minneapolis, Minn.

The certainty with which this remedy acts has astonished the Medical Profession and secured for itself unbounded praise. Its virtues consist in being so gentle a cathartic, tonic and alterative, that in its operation it does not interrupt the usual duties of life, but acts so naturally that the system is not upset or afterwards constipated. It attacks all bilious disorders and sluggishness of the Liver; is harmless, and can be taken at any time without fear of injury.

"I have been a user of Simmons Liver Regulator for years, having made it my only family medicine. It is a sure, good and reliable medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it."—Rev. JAS. M. ROLLINS, Pastor M. E. Church, Fairfield, Va.

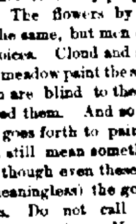

Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. The Original LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. ALWAYS ASK FOR DR. PIERCE'S PELLETS, OR LITTLE SUGAR-COATED PILLS.

Being entirely vegetable, they operate without disturbance to the system, diet, or occupation. Put up in glass vials, hermetically sealed. Always fresh and reliable. As a laxative, alterative, or purgative, these little Pellets give the most perfect satisfaction.

SICK HEADACHE,

Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the stomach and bowels, are promptly relieved and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may truthfully be said that their action upon the system is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative influence. Sold by druggists, 25 cents a vial. Manufactured at the Chemical Laboratory of WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

$500 REWARD

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache. Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 2902 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Runyan P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

A WAYSIDE PROPHET.

While riding in a buggy through the country in Northern Ohio, we noticed that fences and bridges were adorned with various mottoes, painted in large letters, and calculated to arrest the eye of the spiritually indifferent. On the fence at a certain cross-road was printed "Prepare to meet thy God," and "Eternal life is free." On a stone abutment of a bridge appeared the startling injunction, "Repent or go to hell." Other mottoes at different places were, "Repent, you wicked sinner," "Watch and pray," and "Let your light shine." On inquiry we learned that this is the work of a zealous old gentleman, who drives about in a canvas-covered wagon, spreading, as he believes, the gospel of righteousness. There can be no doubt that some soul is startled occasionally out of its lethargy by a sight of one of these sentences. The farmer, driving his load of produce to the city, thinking of nothing but the state of the market, may be suddenly reminded that there are things above the sale of corn and potatoes. The butcher, driving his cattle to the slaughter house, may suddenly recollect that souls, as well as bodies, must have food. The careless pedestrian, sauntering along, thoughtless of any save material wants, may be disagreeably confronted by the thought of spiritual needs. The comfortable man of the world, satisfied with his surroundings, in time may be forcibly reminded of an existence in eternity, wherein worldly goods confer no comfort. The sensualist, the drunkard, the robber, and oppressor may be sometimes brought up standing by one of these wayside sermons. Scoffing will not obliterate the impression. The letters burn on the brain. Like an accusing spirit they follow the man, and will not down at his bidding. When he would laugh, they silence his mirth. He sees them in the bottom of the "social glass." They transform the faces of his former boon companions, and make them hideous. The seed sown by the wayside has taken root, and sometime must bear fruit in character. Such a work may these sentences on fence and stone perform. And if but one soul is made better the patient painter will be rewarded.

Many may laugh at his zealous attempts to reform the world by printing his gospel on a board by the roadside; but it is more sensible to print it in a book? This man has put his message where he who runs may read. It will not be silenced, nor could any prophet scream louder. The flowers by the roadside speak the same, but men cannot hear their voices. Cloud and sunlight, brook and meadow paint the same words, but men are blind to these—they do not heed them. And so this wayside prophet goes forth to paint in characters which still mean something to human eyes (though even these are fast becoming meaningless) the gospel of righteousness. Do not call him over zealous, nor enthusiast. He recognizes the needs of the hour and the blindness of men, and he conforms his conduct to these. When men can read the higher Scriptures his brush will not be needed. But when that time comes many pens will lose employment, and the hum of printing presses will be diminished.—Solon Lauer, in Unity.

THE MEXICAN PENITENTS.

They passed through the streets of the town, where the massive adobe houses, white as marble in the deceptive light, threw shadows black as ink, and presently emerged upon a paved road, which led to a garden set thick with trees. The air was heavy with perfume; hundreds of fire-flies, where the thicket was so dense no ray from the sky might penetrate, seemed to fill the place with ghostly fires. It was enchanting, weird, aye, awe-inspiring. Soon in the near distance they heard a sound as of measured strokes, and a low, continuous moan. The strokes quickened to the whizz of heavy flails, the moan to the dirge of the Miserere. Then they understood, with a shock of horror, that they were about to witness one of the processions of penitents, which, though forbidden by the civil law, still were secretly conducted in remote and fanatical districts. Presently they came from amid the shelter of the trees, like mournful ghosts upon the moonlit road. They were all men—men to whom the memory of their sins was intolerable—and as they walked they wielded the cruel scourges on their bared shoulders, and ceaselessly intoned the dirge. It was past midnight, and for hours they had continued the dreadful flagellation, and the unceasing march. Blood streamed from many a gaping wound; they staggered as they walked, more than once a penitent fell, and was lifted to his feet by the man who walked beside him. All this dismal company were masked; each wore a friar's gown and a rough shirt of hair, which hung pendant from the girdle at the waist, above which was seen the cut and bleeding skin.

NOT ALTOGETHER FRIENDLESS.

The small child is to the front again. He had been naughty. The naughtiness of youth and the naughtiness of age are widely different.

"If you do that nobody will love you," the tender mother told him.

"'Taint so. I know one who'll like me," he answered.

"Who?"

"Satan. He likes the bad ones."—San Francisco Chronicle.

PERVERSITY OF WOMAN'S WILL.

She Consents to Her Daughter's Marriage Because Her Husband Objects.

Scene I.—Place, parlor. Time, 12 midnight. She in his arms. He hugging her with an elaborate intensity damaging to the strings of her upholstery.

He—Darling, I love you better than life. Be mine, sweet one, forever. Be my wife, angel of my existence—will you, pet?

She (softly murmuring)—Yes, dear Johnnie.

Nineteen double æsthetic distilled kisses in one minute by the clock. Grand tableau. The cats sing in joyful unison on the fences in the rear.

* * * * * * *

Scene II.—Place, family sitting room. Time, 12:45 a. m. She blushing by the stove. Her mother, rather wrathy, sitting in the straightest back chair in the apartment.

Mother—Good gracious, Clara, what made him stay so late? I have been sitting up waiting for you until I'm half dead for sleep. Why it's nearly one o'clock.

She—Well, ma, don't blame him. It was all my fault. (Ah! the dear girls; they always defend the men they love—until they legally get him.)

Mother—Why, Clara, what makes you look so funny? So you love this young man?

She (blushing more so, and speaking with the verbal difficulty of heartfelt emotion)—Yes, dear ma, and he loves me, and I promised to-night to be his wife.

Mother—Good gracious sakes alive, child! Why, he is too poor to marry you. What does he make a week now?

She—Twelve dollars, ma; but, oh! his prospects are so bright, and we are both young and can wait, and will, ma.

Mother—Well, you can never marry him. He is too poor, Clara.

She weeps, not only in a wholesale manner, but with elaborate hysterical ornaments.

Mother (relenting a little)—Well, go to bed now, my child. It's very late. I will talk to your father about this matter.

The cats sob in painful harmony on the roof of the extension.

* * * * * * *

Scene III.—Place, bedroom of the head of the family. Time, 1:15 a. m. The mother in bed and husband asleep deeply and snoring musically.

Mother (to husband)—Say, father, John Denny has proposed to our Clara.

Old man stands the assault for a moment, and then, waking up, exclaims profanely:—"Oh, it's you is it? Pretty time to get in bed with cold feet. What the devil do you want now?"

The mother—Aint you ashamed of yourself to talk that way to me? I say that John Denny has proposed to our Clara, and she loves him, too.

Old man—You don't tell me so, Sarah. He's too poor. Do you know what he makes a week now?

The mother—Only $12.

Old man—Oh, he's too devilish poor. She can't marry that church mouse.

The mother (now taking sides with her daughter)—Daniel Webster Jones, I want to ask you what salary you were getting when you cried and blubbered for me some twenty odd years ago?

Old man (in a November tone of voice)—You know, Sarah Jane, I told you then, and you have not forgotten it.

The mother—Well, tell me now, Daniel. You hear me!

Old man—Oh, $8. per week.

The Mother—Well, you got me in time, and I guess our Clara can have the young man she loves. He now beats you by $4 a week. We give our consent. You hear me, Daniel?

Old man—Yes, yes, dear. All right. Now go to sleep. It's late. Good night, dear.

The cats executed a regular breakdown of hilarity on the outer window ledge of the bathroom.—London Rarebits.

CHARACTERISTICS OF DANTE.

To attempt to refine upon Dante is to make him ridiculous. Coarse and grotesque in expression he doubtless is at all times; but the indelicacy is not of that Swinburnean type which revels in rottenness, and for which he would have an appropriate nook in one of his "Bolgias." It is rather inherent in his subject. The dominant sentiment of the "Inferno" is that sin brutalizes. Through successive circles he leads us downward to lower developments of bestiality. His fiends have no affinity with the Miltonian Satan or with the Mephistopheles of Goethe. The polished, sarcastic, keen-witted, sneering, denying devil, and the "archangel ruined," retaining traces of his "original brightness," are alike absent from Dante's hell. His Lucifer, at the apex of the infernal cone, is the supreme incarnation of demoniac animalism. Accordingly, he pictures his devils with all the accompaniments of brutal depravity in word and act and mien. Dante is a plain speaker on whatever subject he is dealing with. He refuses to circumvent or to glide with circumvolution or euphemism. For a translator to attempt to mitigate the plain directness of such passages is to make them doubly offensive.—New Princeton Review.

Buying Slaves in Morocco.

We often visited the slave market, which is, I think, the most interesting sight in Morocco, writes a correspondent. We had all of us read the fearful accounts which the press of Tangier is so fond of repeating, of the terrible doings of slavery in Morocco, and I must confess were most pleasantly surprised. We went very often to the market, but never saw such sights as children separated from their parents, though we saw both sold together in the "lot." Nor did we see many other things of which we have read; in fact, the slaves wore a wonderfully contented, even cheerful, expression while the sale was proceeding. We were much amused at watching one young lady—who, by the way, was rather handsome—alter her expression from sulkiness when an old Moor was looking at her to cheerfulness when a handsome young man began his inspection. So there is coyness even in the wild deserts from which these slaves come. In fact, far from being a painful sight—for by the accounts we have of those who have seen it before they all left "with our eyes full of tears"—we found it rather amusing than otherwise, and I do not know that we are more hard-hearted than the generality of mankind. This I will say, that I would far rather be a slave in Morocco than a peasant. From what, too, I saw of slaves out of the market they appear not to have such a bad time of it, and in many houses enjoy more liberty than paid servants. Of course, there is truth in many of the fearful stories we hear of ill-treatment, but, again, I know an old Moor on whose death all the property goes by will to his slaves. It is not slavery that is so bad; it is the kidnaping that slavery necessitates and the terrible long journey over the scorching desert; but, of course, to put down this kidnaping he must aim at slavery direct. The market is mostly supplied from the Soudan—not the "Soudan" as we call Nubia, but the Soudan that lies south of the Sahara and east of Senegambia, an enormous district of sand—but it is not at all an uncommon sight to see white slaves in the market—Moors and Arabs. The prices average about £3 to £5 a head for all varieties, though we saw one elderly female knocked down for about 22 shillings, much to her own disgust.—London News.

Ringing Noises

In the ears, sometimes a roaring, buzzing sound, are caused by catarrh, that exceedingly disagreeable and very common disease. Loss of smell or hearing also result from catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, is a peculiarly successful remedy for this disease, which it cures by purifying the blood. If you suffer from catarrh, try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the peculiar medicine.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—oughtn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he wont use Ath-lo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way. It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I continued its use, and am now well. REV. S. H. TROYER, New Albany, Ind."

The 1st day of July and the 1st day of January are the dates when all the fines collected by the justices of the county and by the mayor of Fort Wayne are paid to the county treasurer. These fines go into the school fund, and only the interest on the principal is used.

The heads of several conductors on the Lake Shore have dropped into the basket the past week. Three of the oldest men on the road, Messrs. Case, known as "Father Case," John Gerling, known as "Uncle John," and T. Walsley have all succumbed to the irrepressible guillotine.

The Logansport Pharos says: "Col. I. B. McDonald, of Columbia City, the well-known democratic editor and politician, was in the city to-day. The colonel feels jubilant over the democratic victory yesterday in this city. He says the democracy in northern Indiana have been in better shape since 1852, when Pierce was elected. He thinks Cleveland will carry the country in 1888."

Warren Sayre, of Wabash, was at Indianapolis the other day, and surrendered to the eloquent pleadings of a life insurance agent. When he had finally consented to take out a policy, the agent began firing the conventional interrogations at him, concerning his age, health, antecedents, etc. One of the questions was: "Was any member of your family ever affected with insanity?" Sayre studied a moment, and then said in his droll way: "Well, none that I know of, but since I got an idea of trying to be governor some of the family have been eyeing me rather suspiciously."

The supreme court had decided in a case where damages were claimed for injuries at a railroad crossing, that there is no presumption that a person injured at a highway and railroad crossing with which he was familiar, was himself free from negligence. Prima facie the fault was his own and the proof should show, in an action by him for damages, that he was in the exercise of due care. The failure of the railroad company to perform its statutory duty as to sounding the whistle of its engine was not sufficient cause of the injury. Persons who could have avoided injury by exercising the opportunity to look for approaching trains will be regarded as having made the attempt to cross after having seen the train approach.

Dr. Geo. Stemen returned last night from Kansas City.

The Pittsburg road will probably change their time table on next Sunday.

Mr. S. E. Morss, formerly editor of THE SENTINEL, is a guest of the Aveline house. Mr. Morss did not associate himself with the Chicago Times under its new management and will not accept a place on its staff, although one was offered him. Mr. Morss will remain in the city a few days before deciding his business plans.

Lafayette street, at the railroad crossing, needs a viaduct, it being the most dangerous crossing in the city and having no protection beyond a watchman. That part of Lafayette from Lewis to Wallace streets is one of the most important thoroughfares in the east end, being lined with business houses and used daily by thousands of employes of the different shops and factories. The council, at its last meeting, appointed a committee, who meet Thursday to act on the matter.

The statement contained in the News last evening that Queen Esther would be given by the Philalathian society is incorrect, as it is under the management of Mrs. W. F. Yocum. By request the society very kindly gave their hall for the Tuesday night rehearsals. On Saturday nights they will be held in the Sunday school room of the Wayne street church. The rehearsal last evening, under the direction of Professor Woolsey, was a complete success, both as to numbers and work accomplished.

If we did some little act of kindness every day what a beautiful record our years would present.

CLEAN YOUR SIDEWALKS.

A Howl From One Who Has to Shovel.

The street commissioner hereby notifies all persons that the ice in front of their premises must be cleared off forthwith. The condition of many sidewalks is dangerous, and the street commissioner's order is a proper one.—Journal.

A very righteous order. But the eternal justice and fitness of things doth not yet appear in requiring Mr. A., who has a thirty-foot front, to clean his walk, while Mr. B., who owns whole blocks of unimproved property, and wont sell a lot for a reasonable consideration, is permitted to allow the young mountains of snow on his sidewalk to remain undisturbed. It is a truly great satisfaction to a foot traveler to walk over a few feet of swept sidewalk and then wade knee-deep through the snow for a whole block in front of vacant lots. If the parties who hold these lots were compelled to render compliance with the above order in all seasons real estate would probably settle down somewhat and the city grow correspondingly; to say nothing of the comfort to pedestrians. In the beautiful and impressive language of the St. Louis platform—"Reform is necessary."

Geo. Belmy Dead Out West.

THOMAS, Ark., Dec. 28, 1887.

Postmaster, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

DEAR SIR:—A young man by name of Geo. Behney, or Belmy, died here a few days ago, leaving some money and other effects. I understand his uncle lives in your neighborhood. I would like to find out the whereabouts of his sister, Mrs. Lilly Raymond. Please insert notice in your local paper and send me bill, when I will remit. Respectfully,

J. H. O'NEIL,
Deputy Sheriff.

A Mrs. Raymond used to live here at 192 Broadway, but she has moved away. The postmaster would like to have some information from the relatives of the young man.

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is worthy your confidence. It is peculiar in that it strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. Give it a trial.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.
